DR. SEAN EVERSLY BRADWELL is an assistant professor at Ithaca College. He serves as the co-coordinator for the African Diaspora Studies minor in the Center for the Study of Culture, Race and Ethnicity and has research and teaching interests in educational policy, race theory, and hip hop culture.

Dr. Bradwell received a B.A. in political science from the University of Rochester; an M.S. in education from Rochester’s Margaret Warner Graduate School of Education and Human Development; and a Ph.D. in policy analysis and management from Cornell University.

In 2015, Dr. Bradwell was re-elected to serve a third term on the Ithaca City School District Board of Education. Through his professional, research, and personal involvement in public schools and higher education as well as his work with community organizations, Dr. Bradwell is committed to working towards more meaningful learning and teaching.